One Call Now

Written by: Samantha Howell

Beginning in the very near future, our school will be going to the "One Call Now" notification system. This system will call each student and staff member to give notice of school delays, closings, etc. In order for the system to work properly, please make sure the office has your correct phone number. Otherwise the system will call the wrong number, leaving you without the proper notice that all others will be receiving.

If you have any phone number changes that need to be made, please give them to Janie or Cathy A.S.A.P.

Senior Spotlight

Written by: Britanni Cresie

Our senior in the Senior Spotlight this week is Todd Bandy. He was born May 19, 1990, in Portsmouth, Ohio. He is the son of Kara Fuller and Todd Bandy. I asked Todd who his favorite teacher was all through his school years. He said, "My 5th grade teacher Tim McMahon." His favorite color is green. Todd's hobbies are to play his Xbox 360 and eat pizza rolls. His dream vacation is to go to Ireland. Todd's plan after he graduates high school is to stay in the Army and go to Wright State University.

Voters of 2008

Written By: Briana Hooley, Heather Brewer, Steven Robinson, Stephanie Westfall

A recent Gallup Poll, reported in U.S.A. Today, measured voter enthusiasm for the 2008 presidential election. The results of the survey reported 32% "Extremely" ready to vote, 29% "Very," 26% "Somewhat," 9% "Not too," and 4% "Not at all." Primaries and caucuses in New Hampshire and Iowa have had record turnouts. The political process may prosper this year.

Education In Action

Becca's Question of the Week

"Why does sour cream have an expiration date?"

"Because it's sour."
-Brooke Burns

"Because people who make it are stupid!"
-Heather Brewer

"Because it gets sour."
-Kirk Phelps

FAFSA

Written By: Rebecca Herzog

Are you a Senior going to college? If so, then the FAFSA is something for you. You need to get your Pin Id ASAP! You can get one from the FAFSA website. Also, Southern State is hosting a College Goal Sunday on February 10th, at 2 p.m. If you need any help preparing for college, these are good things to attend. For any questions see Miss Bach.
