Power of the Pen

Written By: Miss Ellis

Congratulations to seventh grader Graham Douglas for winning the seventh grade Power of the Pen competition Friday, February 8. Graham competed against 84 other seventh graders from 14 area schools. He will compete in the Regional Competition in March. We are anxiously awaiting the results to find out the other team members who will be competing in that March competition at Unioto Middle School. The seventh grade team consists of Graham Douglas, Justin Berkley, Leanna Lomske, Jennah Lomske, Molly Oliver, and Jake Stevens. The eighth grade team members are Emily Ward, Tyler Staats, Taryn Watson, Chelsea Luman, Kandis Milburn, and Destiny Nace.

Attendance Pizza Party

Written By: Samantha Howell

Last week there was an attendance competition held between the grades seven through twelve. The seventh and the eighth grade tied for first place in the end. There was a good fight throughout the week between the two grades. So the race ended up in a tie at a 93% attendance rate. Last Friday the seventh and eighth grade classes enjoyed a pizza party at the end of the school day.

Jesse's Fun Facts

- George Washington was the first president under the Constitution of 1789. However, the U.S. was an independent nation for 13 years before the Constitution was signed. For one year during this time John Hanson served as "President of the U.S. in Congress assembled." Technically, he was the first president of the United States.

Poetry Contest Winners

Written By: Rebecca Herzog

Last year, Ms. Countryman's sophomore English classes had the opportunity to enter a poetry contest held by the Library of Poetry. The winner received a $500 savings bond while many others got their poetry published in a book, With Honors. Three students from Whiteoak were honored by getting their poems published. Please congratulate Rebecca Herzog, Jill Minter, and Heather Brewer for this big accomplishment.
