FOOD SCIENCE TEAM WILL COMPETE AT STATE LEVEL

Written by: Lori Bratton

On Monday, November 17 the Food Science Team went to Monroe for a competition. The team consists of Ashley Frazer, Amber Frazer, Thomas Morris, and Lori Bratton. The Team placed second in the district out of seven teams. The Mowrystown FFA Food Science Team will be continuing on to the state competition on December 6 at the Ohio State Ag campus. The purpose of food science is to learn activities in food science and technology for food industries. It also helps to develop good teamwork and team decision-making. This type of competition helps to encourage FFA members to gain awareness of professional opportunities in the field of food science and technology and also in marketing and management occupations. It provides opportunities for FFA members to learn about it and if they find a liking for it, they could find a job with the knowledge that they have learned. Even if they do not want to enter that field they will have an appreciation and knowledge of the food industry. The students had to take a thirty-question test, taste test, identify aromas, write a customer complaint letter, and identify management practices. They will compete at the State Competition this Saturday, December 6th. GOOD LUCK!

SENIOR SPOTLIGHT

Written by: Cassie Buzard

The senior spotlight this week is on Rachael Russell, born on September 13th, 1989 in Cincinnati, Ohio, to parents Judy and Michael Russell. Rachael has one brother and two sisters and a kitten named Kitty Cat. Rachael's favorite color is pink, and her favorite teacher is Mr. Lanham. Rachael is currently working at Kroger's in Hillsboro.

When Rachael isn't working she is involved in FFA and Jogs, and she enjoys dancing and making her friends laugh. If Rachael could go anywhere she would love to go to Hawaii. After graduation her plans are to go to college at Shawnee and become a Dental Hygienist.
